Heard you were transferring? Is it true?

...yeah

Hey, you know... So I mean...if you're going because of me then...

No.
It's definitely not because of that.

It's true.

It's not because of you but because of home problems and stuff like that..

Home problems? What sort of problems?

Ah...

Honestly my mom had an affair, left and recently got married.
Dad has debts so he has to sell the house and uncle helped me to go out, and live alone.
I don't want to live with dad anyway.

Ah~ why did I get carried away.. It's the first time saying stuff like that to somebody.

We won't meet again anyway!

I still don't like you and angry at you but still

Stay well

Bye.

Yeah, you too.
Stay well and healthy.

So that...
something felt weird.

Telling all those things to somebody I'm not really close with...
I've never even told my closest friend these things

But have you said good bye to the one who you said you were close with? Don't you feel bad?

Yeah well, I definitely do feel bad but but it's weird. I thought that we were actually close but now I'm not so sure. May be it's because the way we left at the end.

What does it mean being friends? What is it, when trust is underlooked?
Is there such a thing? In between a relationship

Eventually at the end we laugh when we break up to something I wrote

For me know you out or what event if you knows them & ends
Anyway if things doesn't work out then its hard to keep the relationship

Thanks For that time. Are you ok? Are those problems all sorted? I didn't have a chance to ask these questions in the end

I don't know what happened

Surprisingly while you love there are these sort of relationships
You were easily close, easily grow apart, you think that you shared the truth but it was only for that time, in the end it was as if there was no relationship

So as you go on expectations for others become smaller.
Will these sort of relationships are still good. Time together just like that

Those relations are sad and not progressing but later on it's nothing. As time goes on you don't feel lonely.

Um... Is that what growth is?
Growth?

Hm... no.

What I'm saying is that in the end any recession with others easily established is fragile

Others are just others. People is alone completely is what say.
Granted now family or friends are still beside you.

More than that being growth..
It's more about your mind changing?
